

APAS launches Saskatchewan Farmers' Voice

September 29, 2016 - For Immediate Release - The Agricultural Producers Association of Saskatchewan launches their new quarterly magazine Saskatchewan Farmers' Voice today as an insert delivered to 20,000 Saskatchewan subscribers of the Western Producer newspaper.

"APAS is very pleased to launch this first edition of our new quarterly magazine," said APAS President Norm Hall. "Our magazine is an effort to communicate with all Saskatchewan farmers and ranchers. We want to provide information about our APAS activities, discussion about important agricultural issues, offer features on agronomy and business, and information on member benefits available to APAS member ratepayers."

Saskatchewan Farmers' Voice will be produced in partnership with Farm Business Communications and the Keystone Agricultural Producers in Manitoba, APAS' counterpart in Manitoba.

APAS is Saskatchewan's general farm organization formed to provide farmers and ranchers with a democratically elected, grassroots, non-partisan, producer organization based on rural municipal boundaries. As the united voice of thousands of agricultural producers in Saskatchewan, we strive to represent the views of a wide variety of agricultural stakeholders in order to form comprehensive policies that can benefit all sectors of society.
